

GOOD PRACTICE SUMMARY

Good Practice	Fishing for Knowledge: Sharing Counter-Trafficking Strategies through Gamified Practices in Coastal Communities
Description	This is an initiative by the International Organization for Migration (IOM) that uses interactive board games to communicate concepts related to human trafficking, translating them into understandable terms in fishing communities.
Objective	Development of a methodology through gamification to raise awareness in the fishing communities about human trafficking crimes and community-level referral mechanisms.
Location	Costa Rica
People we serve	Fishing communities
Keywords	Community, Human Trafficking, Protection, Rural Areas, Community Activities

IMPLEMENTATION PHASES

- Prevalence study
- Identifying of communities
- Key alliances
- Key ideas
- Work with communities
- System evaluation
- Constant revision